STATA®

Owning your site license

Your Stata site license provides your entire university with full access to the most current version of Stata.

Faculty, staff, and students work together seamlessly, both within and across departments, always with the most up-to-date version of the software.

Receive priority access to new versions of Stata during your license term.

Ensure continued access to updates—including enhancements, bug fixes, and security patches.

You may use your Stata site license for any academic purpose at the university, including teaching, course work, and research.

Convenience and ease

Your Stata site license conveniently centralizes and organizes your Stata purchase.

» You maintain a single serial number for access to the license.

» You make a single annual payment for access to the license.

» You don't have to monitor and report usage throughout the year.

» You are able to use your Stata site license on all supported platforms and in all supported environments, including cloud-based solutions.

Tech support

Your Stata site license gives you continued access to technical support from a dedicated staff of expert Stata programmers and statisticians. For installation assistance, call 979-696-4600.

For all other technical support requests, email a description of your problem to tech-support@stata.com. Reference your serial number in the subject line.

Your new Stata users should register for our free webinar, "Ready. Set. Go Stata." It provides a quick, one-hour tour of working in Stata. Users can sign up now by visiting stata.com/site-rsg.

Access to Stata on the Wharton Research Data Services (WRDS) cloud environment is available to all site license users that subscibe to the WRDS service. Visit stata.com/wrds to learn more.
